The price range for rennet casein moved lower this week, while the acid casein price range moved higher. Contacts report acid casein production is declining in Oceania, as milk output is declining in the region. Demand for acid casein within Oceania is declining as well, but stakeholders say demand for acid casein from international markets is strong. Stakeholders say acid casein inventories are tightening in Oceania. Meanwhile, in Europe, contacts report loads of rennet casein are available for purchasing. Rennet casein production is steady, and contacts note demand for rennet casein is steady to light within Europe. Stakeholders say demand for rennet casein from purchasers outside of Europe is unchanged from previous weeks. Rennet casein production in Europe is strong.
