The price ranges for both acid and rennet casein were unchanged this week. Milk production is declining in Oceania and manufacturers in the region note this is contributing to lighter acid casein production. In Oceania, demand for acid casein is soft, though stakeholders say demand from buyers in international markets is steady. Acid casein inventories in Oceania are tight. In Europe, rennet casein production is steady. Contacts report demand for rennet casein is steady from purchasers in Europe and internationally. Inventories of rennet casein are available to meet spot market demands.
