

January 17, 2007

USDA – Ag Marketing Service Listening Session

Denver, CO

What is “Naturally Raised”

I believe that the majority of beef cattle producers in the US think that the term “naturally raised” should be defined as:

Raised without the use of hormones (implants) and without drugs (feed additives) including ionophores, repartitioning agents and antibiotics.

Rick Goodall, PhD, PAS
Beef cattle nutritionist
Feed industry consultant