General Comment: We are a produce wholesaler and have been since 1946. The receiving standards for all produce has been lowered over the years first being US #1 on arrival to the current standard of only 85% US #1 on arrival. That standard is low enough. Any further increases in what is acceptable in defects will significantly reduce the general appearance of the product when presented to the end user. The amount of shatter currently allowed is already enough that the 2# bags they are put in are currently referred to as "body bags" for the loose grapes in the bottom of the bags. 85% US #1 on arrival is a weak enough standard. Please do not lower it again. Thank you.
