

Are there special requirements for shipping, handling, and packaging organic products in small quantities?

The quantity of products does not matter. If you are a handler, you must still be certified under the NOP regulations and comply with § 205.272 to prevent organic products from commingling and contact with prohibited substances. See § 205.272 for the specific requirements on commingling and contact with prohibited substances prevention practice standard.

e-CFR