

I received communication from a client asking me whether they could use non-organic or conventional pollen to pollinate organic “female” flowers to create organic seeds.

If organic pollen is available, by all means, encourage its use. But pollen is analogous to insemination, not seed. And if the ACA determines that a sufficient quantity of the type and quality of pollen needed is not available, then conventional pollen may be used.

e-CFR