U.S. TRADE DESCRIPTIONS FOR POULTRY Available in December 2000

The U.S. Trade Descriptions for Poultry are voluntary trade standards consisting of word and picture descriptions for over 70 ready-to-cook chicken products. A numeric coding system is defined that communicates product and packaging characteristics. The standard is designed for high volume buyers and sellers of poultry who do domestic and international business with U.S. producers. This publication is also available on the Internet on <http://www.ams.usda.gov/poultry>. Trade standards for turkey products will be developed in the future.
