In the West, the dry buttermilk price range moved higher on the bottom end by 1 cent and moved lower on the top end by 1 cent. The mostly price series moved higher on both ends. Stakeholders note domestic demand as somewhat stronger to somewhat lighter. Demand from international buyers is moderate. Loads are available to meet immediate needs of most spot buyers. Liquid and condensed buttermilk is readily available for drying with many butter churns at-or-near capacity. Manufacturers relay buttermilk production is steady. A few producers say inventories available for spot purchases have tightened and will remain tight till partly into Q2.
