Contacts in the East region share spring flush milk volumes have allowed cheesemakers to run seven-day production schedules. Cheese plant contacts relay inventories are growing. Cheese demand for the holiday weekend was lower than some contacts anticipated but is solid overall. Cheesemakers in the Central region note strong cheese demand. Some contacts say they have little to no spot load availability. Spot milk prices were reported at $7 under to $1 under Class III. In the West region, contacts share cheese production schedules are strong following the holiday weekend. Some manufacturers relay spot cheese availability is very tight regardless of variety.
