The Dane County Farmers’ Market is a large, urban market located on the Capitol Square in Madison, Wisconsin. The market has a wide range of agricultural products available. It is reported the largest producer-only market in the country. Dane County Farmers’ Market requires dairy product vendors to have either made their products with their own animals’ milk, have them processed at a licensed dairy facility using only their milk or procured milk from farmers and processed the milk into dairy products.

Data from the Dane County Farmers’ Market are listed in the table below. All reported dairy products are local to Wisconsin and sold by producers. These are cows’ milk products.
