The Shell Egg Demand Indicator for this week is 5.30, up 2.8 points from last week.

This Week:
Demand for shell eggs over the past week improved, stimulated in part by increased feature activity at retail outlets at attractive price levels combined with an easing of the recent heat wave that affected large areas of the country. Wholesale prices for negotiated trading of loose eggs are higher on limited trading. Demand is moderate to good for light offerings and light to moderate supplies. Wholesale prices for formula trading of carton stock are higher with moderate demand for light offerings. Trading is moderate. Wholesale breaking stock prices are steady with light demand and light to very light offerings. Supplies are light to moderate and trading is slow to moderate. The preliminary survey of retail outlets indicates a sharp decline activity for conventional shell eggs with an increase in the average ad price.
