Guidelines to Petition the Secretary of Agriculture
For a Referendum on the Beef Promotion and Research Order

Section 7(b) of the Beef Promotion and Research Act of 1985 (Act) provides that “…the Secretary may conduct a referendum on the request of a representative group comprising 10 per centum or more of the number of cattle producers to determine whether cattle producers favor the termination or suspension of the order” (7 U.S.C. 2906(b)).

Neither the Act nor the Beef Promotion and Research Order (Order) provides guidance regarding how a request to the Secretary of Agriculture (Secretary) for a referendum should be made. While cattle producers would initiate a request, its validity would be evaluated by the Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), which is the agency within the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) that oversees the Beef Checkoff Program. These guidelines lay out criteria that AMS would evaluate in determining the validity of a request for a referendum.

Number of Cattle Producers

- Neither the Act nor the Order describes what constitutes “a representative group comprising 10 per centum or more of the number of cattle producers.” For the purpose of evaluating a request for a referendum on the Beef Checkoff Program, AMS would rely on the most recent information available from the USDA’s National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS). While NASS does not provide estimates of the number of cattle producers in the United States, it does provide estimates of the number of farms with cattle and calves in the Census of Agriculture. The 2017 Census of Agriculture estimates that there were 882,692 farms with cattle and calves in the United States.
- AMS recognizes that the number of farms with cattle and calves does not necessarily equal the number of cattle producers. For example, one cattle producer may have cattle on several different farms, and there may be several cattle producers with cattle on one farm. Nonetheless, AMS considers the number of farms with cattle and calves as the best estimate for determining “a representative group comprising 10 per centum or more of the number of cattle producers.” Consequently, a request from at least 88,269 cattle producers would be required for the Secretary to call for a referendum.
